From the Office

Hello beautiful artists and crafters! Here's your weekly update from the office side of things.

Envelopes

I'm sure you're wondering why we have been reminding you all about the importance of filling out your envelope properly (w/ date, legal name, and correct math). If your envelope is missing one of those things, or the math is off, we are unable to fully process your envelope and therefore cannot process your point.

There are several no name envelopes from this season, so if you feel that you are missing a point please come into or call the office. Erich and Renee stay inside the Info Booth until 4:25pm every Saturday, and if you miss them please try your best to get us your envelope by the following Wednesday. Also, please DO NOT combine market days into one envelope. Each market day should have its own envelope and math breakdown (booth fee + 10% = total). Thank you all so much for your hard work!

Survey

Speaking of envelopes, you may have noticed a cool survey in yours! Please fill out the survey and turn it in with your envelope to have your opinion recorded. The survey is collecting information regarding our last market day: should it be Nov. 5th or Nov. 12th? Only one survey will be given out per envelope, so do your best not to misplace it.

See Something Say Something

From a new overflowing trash can, suspicious weirdo, or non-friendly community member please say something to a Staff or Security member. You may call the office phone on Saturdays and report anything weird, odd, or suspicious to us. Also if possible, please take pictures and videos. This greatly helps our Staff and Security when looking for these non-friendly folks.

Volunteers

We are so grateful for all of our lovely volunteers! We have several tasks, small and large, that still need some tending to. If you are interested in volunteering, pick up and return an MVP pamphlet or get in contact with Anna Lawrence at hauteaprons4u@yahoo.com. Thank You!

If you still need some assistance please do not hesitate to contact the office. We love hearing from you and will do the best we can to help.

Happy Selling!
Your Office Staff

Sustainability Corner

I've lived in the Willamette Valley since 1992, and I don't remember a summer with this many days in the 90's. So in the spirit of that observation, this week I would like to share 3 more ideas from the Sierra Club to help halt climate change.

1. Be energy-smart at home. Look for the Energy Star label when you buy new appliances. Run your dishwasher, washer and dryer only when they're full. Wash your clothes on cold or better yet, dry them on a clothesline, in the sunshine. Get young people to help you. I used to help my grandmother hang clothes up in her backyard, and not only did it produce beautiful, sensory memories for me, but it instilled a love of simplicity and resourcefulness in me. I also use a wooden drying rack to dry a lot of my clothes, and I also just hang them on hangers in the bathroom.

2. Insulate your home early. Don't wait for the summer heat or cold of winter. Call an insulation expert (many locations offer this consultation free of charge) and learn new, money-saving ways to make your walls, attic and windows more energy efficient.

3. Be as smart as your thermostat, meaning set your thermostat to a comfortable temperature when needed and save energy other times. My grandmother also taught me to open all the windows in the morning during the summer for a few hours, then close everything up and make it darker inside by closing curtains. We currently do this, and on hot days the air conditioner usually doesn't need to come on until the afternoon.

Thank you so much for reading, and I hope you stay cool this week. Please send any sustainability topics, questions or article ideas to: goosehillgifts@gmail.com.

From Your Standards Committee

Hello everyone! This week's article is an explanation of the 10% that you pay in your booth fee.

Every Saturday we pay 10% of our gross earnings. If a sale is made after you turn in your envelope at the end of the day, add 10% of that sale to your next Saturday's payment.

Gross income is before you have removed any expenses involved in conducting business such as cost of materials, rent, utilities etc. The 10% also applies to custom orders you make at the Market even if the payment is made later at another place in your business or continued services related to the market sale or contact. The Market contact generated those continued earnings. Remember, the Saturday Market contract you signed when becoming a member states that you owe 10% from custom orders. The solution to this could be a raise in price to cover the 10% of the custom order.

The 10% is on the honor system. The Saturday Market trusts its members and it is beneficial to the Markets wellbeing.

Happy Posting!

Today we are expecting a sunny, but smokey day. The high today is 98°F with a low of 57°F. A wind of 10-15mph is expected from the North Northwest. Humidity is expected to be at 25%, and sadly only a 4% chance of the rain drops (who knew we'd miss the rain?). For smoke protection please consider wearing a mask and sunglasses.
